The comedy is by far the best thing of the sort that has ever been seen in Maysville. The same will be repeated tonight. Remember the Park closes for the season tonight. Let everybody come out and pack the house and make up in a blaze of glory.

WHAT JUDGE BECKER SAYS.

Strong Presentation of His Reasons for Refusing to Support Goebel for the Governorship.

THIS SHOULD BE THE COURSE OF HONEST MEN.

Winchester Democrat.

To the Editor of The Democrat: I am very gratified indeed for your kindness in presenting to me through the columns of the journal the reasons for taking the stand I have taken with reference to the present political situation in Kentucky. I find myself at variance with many who have been my associates in politics for a generation. These are just as much entitled to their opinion as I am. Kind friends have urged upon me considerations of personal advantage and disadvantage which deserve serious thought from a man at my period of life, and especially from one who values the good opinion of his friends and neighbors as much as I do. There is one point which I have battered myself out and prepared to fill with usefulness to the people, and which I coveted because I believed that it would enable me to accomplish a purpose fraught with untold blessings to the youth of Kentucky. All these things move me profoundly, but I would not be a selfish politician and a conscientious slave if, looking at the matter as I do, I allowed them to prevent me from doing what I believe to be right and consistent with a record which, whilst it has not brought me riches, has enabled me to say all my train and tribulation that I have acted no ignominious or dastardly part in life. There is every person here who is in favor of Goebel in his capacity as a candidate for the Governorship. I have served with him in the Constitutional Convention and in the Legislature, and our relations have been of the most pleasant character. He is a member of my profession, and is a man of ability, whom it has always been agreeable to me to meet and associate with when attending the highest Court of the state at Frankfort. And yet, as I read the editorial in your issue of Monday, I am constrained to admit that I have been misled by the friends of the course I am taking. As a Democrat I am not bound to vote for him.

His election would mean the passage of the China School Bill which, as I see it, would be a serious blow to popular education in Kentucky, an interest which I have spent my life in fostering and to which, if I may so express myself, I would earnestly devote the remainder of my days.

His election would install in power at Frankfort a man who, in my opinion, and every form of vote, and whose influence was sufficiently potent to prevent the passage of the Roberts bill, which would allow the county at large to vote on the question of local option. This was no light matter, as the election machinery, can dispose of the public printing and the publishing of school books at will; can dictate the assessment of corporations, and at master of the penning power, it is easy to see what a tremendous machine will be entrusted at Frankfort, and how much more so if he is elected.

Among all her blood and patriotic ethics, as one free of blood stain can be found to act as a counterweight to the influence of the machine. I have no doubt that the friends of the course I am taking are well-meaning and patriotic, but I am constrained to admit that I have been misled by the friends of the course I am taking.

Bakers' Bread.

The bakers' bread of today is not the bakers' bread of twenty years ago. Science and study have developed this food product more than any other manufactured article of consumption. The F. H. Traxel Company of this city is now the leading bread bakers of this section, simply because they have given study and close attention for years to making Bread that will please the public. Even now there is an impression that prevails among the few that bakers' bread is unwholesome and unfit for family use. We will admit that there are many bakers who make their bread the same as their forefathers did years ago, and hence this impression is justifiable to those who never had an opportunity to get Bread made by modern processes and by bakers who thoroughly understand how to make Bread that will be praised for its merits. The F. H. Traxel Co. has done this share to supply this section, enabling people to get Bread that will meet with every requirement. We make the assertion that this Bread will meet with every requirement because we have evidence of it, and the evidence is the increasing demand wherever sold.
